

Audrey Hepburn Thoughts

Written by Admin
Friday, 26 October 2012 05:08 -

Audrey Hepburn Thoughts

I love people who make me laugh. I honestly think it's the thing I like most, to laugh. It cures a multitude of ills. It's probably the most important thing in a person.

I was born with an enormous need for affection, and a terrible need to give it.

I decided, very early on, just to accept life unconditionally; I never expected it to do anything special for me, yet I seemed to accomplish far more than I had ever hoped. Most of the time it just happened to me without my ever seeking it.

As you grow older, you will discover that you have two hands, one for helping yourself, the other for helping others.

Audrey Hepburn Thoughts

Written by Admin

Friday, 26 October 2012 05:08 -

I heard a definition once: Happiness is health and a short memory! I wish I'd invented it, because it is very true.

Remember, if you ever need a helping hand, it's at the end of your arm, as you get older, remember you have another hand: The first is to help yourself, the second is to help others.

I never think of myself as an icon. What is in other people's minds is not in my mind. I just do my thing.

If my world were to cave in tomorrow, I would look back on all the pleasures, excitements and worthwhilenesses I have been lucky enough to have had. Not the sadness, not my miscarriages or my father leaving home, but the joy of everything else. It will have been enough.

⋮